

Now that's chocolate

Maybe $9 sounds like a lot for a jar of chocolate sauce, but people who have tried Somebody's Mother's Chocolate Sauce say it's worth every penny.

A Texas woman concocted this preservative-free jar of heaven, described by one reporter as "rich and velvety, like liquid milk chocolate."

Put it on ice cream, use it for a fruit dip or swig it from the jar. It's available online at www. somebodysmothers.com.
