

The Detroit News

Thursday, March 30, 2006

detnews.com

Metro Edition

Thursday, March 30, 2006 | The Detroit News 3G

Good stuff

One good sauce

A new dessert topping — Somebody's Mother's Chocolate Sauce — is a plain, no-nonsense concoction made for spooning over fruit or ice cream, and tastes just swell straight from the jar. Fiftysomething mom and businesswoman Lynne Lasher of Houston created the product and launched it last fall. The mom theme extends to the "lid lit" atop each jar. If you're so inclined, you can visit www.somebodysmothers.com and submit a quote from your mother. The quote that's chosen on Mother's Day will net the winner a dozen jars of sauce and a bit of immortality. The 9.5-ounce jar is $9. To order online, go to www.somebodysmothers.com.

— Washington Post